

SAYS RYAN $10,000
WENT TO MURPHY

Sulzer Declares "Chief" Sent Him to Beg Contribution from Son of Financier, Then Kept It All.

EAST SIDE CHEERS HIM

Deposed Governor Asserts That Close Friend of Tammany Leader Retained $5,000 Campaign Money Destined for Wigwam.

SULZER AGAIN ASKS
WHERE MURPHY GOT IT

In his three speeches in the 6th Assembly District last night, William Sulzer drove home these attacks on Charles F. Murphy:

He again asked, "Mr. Murphy, where did you get it?"—referring to the $15,000,000 Murphy is said to be worth.

He charged that Murphy begged him to see Allan Ryan and get a campaign contribution, saying things were bad and he needed the money. He stated that he saw Ryan, got $10,000, and sent it to Murphy at once by John J. Delaney. Murphy assured him later he had received it.

He asserted that of the $27,000 he collected for his campaign, $12,000 went to the committee, $10,000 (Ryan's) to Murphy and $5,000 more was sent to Murphy in the hands of a close friend of the Tammany leader. The friend kept it.

The East Side repeated its hysterical welcome to William Sulzer, the deposed Governor, last night. More than twenty thousand persons heard him speak for the second time in and about the Progressive Club of the 6th Assembly District, Avenue C and 7th street.

Mr. Sulzer for the first time told his version of the Allan A. Ryan $10,000 contribution. He said Ryan didn't tell the whole story when he testified before the impeachment court for reasons best known to Ryan.

According to the deposed Governor, "Chief" Murphy urged him to induce Ryan to contribute, because money was coming too slowly to pay the printing bills of the state committee. He said John H. Delaney, Murphy's personal representative, came to his (Sulzer's) office, No. 115 Broadway, and got Ryan on the phone and then put Sulzer on to talk to him.

Says Murphy Got It

Mr. Sulzer said that Murphy had told him to "talk nice" to Ryan and he would "come across." He said Mr. Ryan expressed a desire to "help him" and the $10,000 was forwarded by Ryan's secretary.

"I gave the money to Delaney, who took it uptown to Murphy. The receipt, so far as I can discover, was never published or acknowledged," Sulzer said.

"I didn't ask him for the money and I never said 'Tell your father I'm the same old Bill,'" he continued.

Mr. Sulzer declared that he did not beseech Ryan to get Murphy to call off the impeachment nor did he ask him as a last resort to have Senator Root see Barnes. It was the other way around, he said. In support of this he related a telephone conversation which Ryan had with him from Suffern, N. Y., one night early in September.

He said Ryan assumed the name of "Morgan," he was so afraid that wire tappers would overhear him. Sulzer said he couldn't make out who Ryan was, so the latter had to mention his first name. He said he saw Ryan later in New York, when Ryan declared that his trial was an "outrage" that would "destroy the organization" and asked permission to help him by having De Lancey Nichol see Murphy. He said Ryan suggested employing William Travers Jerome first and then he mentioned retaining Senator Root.

Case "Cut and Dried"

Ryan, Sulzer said, met him at his office and told him that he had seen his friend "Del," who told him that the case was "cut and dried." Sulzer said Ryan told him that he wished his father was home, as he was "about the only man in the city who could control Murphy."

Sulzer said he got in all $27,000, and gave $12,000 to the campaign committee, $10,000 to Delaney for Murphy and $5,000 to "one of Murphy's closest agents." When asked by reporters to name this man Mr. Sulzer said:

"Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Later he said he would furnish the man's name to the public in a day or so.

Accompanied by Mrs. Sulzer, Max Steindler, the Progressive aldermanic candidate from the 6th, and Mrs. Steindler, the deposed Governor left the Broadway Central Hotel in an automobile bedecked with campaign signs for Progressive headquarters, in Avenue C, about 6:45 o'clock last evening. The reporters followed closely in another automobile. The demonstration began at Third avenue and increased in astounding proportions as the cars approached Avenue C. Young men, boys and little children ran alongside of the cars, and Mr. Sulzer ordered the chauffeur to run slowly.

McCall Meeting Thinned.

All the way up Second avenue to East 10th street the chauffeurs blew

HENNESSY GETS
MURPHY SECRETS

Tammany Men See Writing on Wall and Flock to Reveal Inside Doings of "Chief" and Wigwam.

BARES PRINTING GRAFTING

Declares Frawley Told Ex-Fire Chief Croker They Must Depose Sulzer or Go to Jail Themselves.

Members of Tammany Hall are now flocking to John A. Hennessy and revealing secrets of some of the doings of Charles Francis Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and some of his friends.

This was one of the statements made by Mr. Hennessy last night to enthusiastic audiences in Staten Island, which caused his hearers to shout and stamp their feet.

He also charged that a judge holding high position, promoted by Governor Sulzer at the request of Murphy and others who spoke highly of him, had told George Foster Peabody to see the leader of Tammany Hall concerning the litigation involving the theft of money from the state.

He asserted that several Tammany legislators had told him and others that they simply had to oust Sulzer from the Governorship to protect themselves. Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Wagner, who was Speaker of the Senate until Sulzer was thrown out; Senator Frawley and "Al" Smith, Speaker of the Assembly, were some of the names he mentioned.

Printing Ring Graft.

In this connection he told the following story:

"Ex-Fire Chief Croker (a nephew of Richard Croker) went to Senator Frawley and said: 'Do you really mean to impeach the Governor? Do you really mean to go through with it?' And Frawley answered: 'Of course we do. If we don't, he'll have us all in jail!'"

Besides mentioning more names in connection with campaign contributions that some high personage in Tammany Hall is getting and not accounting for, Mr. Hennessy gave Governor Glynn concrete cases of graft—the printing ring in Albany.

"Governor Glynn lives in Albany," Mr. Hennessy added. "He has a newspaper and he is a printer. He cannot have failed to have heard some people connect his own name with the printing business in Albany."

Mr. Hennessy began his first speech in Cosmopolitan Hall, in West New Brighton, by commenting on Mr. McCall's refusal to answer any of his questions. "The Democratic campaign is a campaign of evasion and deceit, a campaign to 'cut' you out of your votes," he continued. "To-night I'll ask only one question of Mr. McCall. I ask him if after he was elected Supreme Court Justice he did not appoint to office a relative of Police Inspector McLaughlin. I want to ask him if that wasn't his first official act, and I ask him why he appointed a relative of Police Inspector McLaughlin to office?"

The audience howled, thinking, perhaps, that there would be more about some dispute between Mr. McCall and a police inspector regarding a certain note. But there was none.

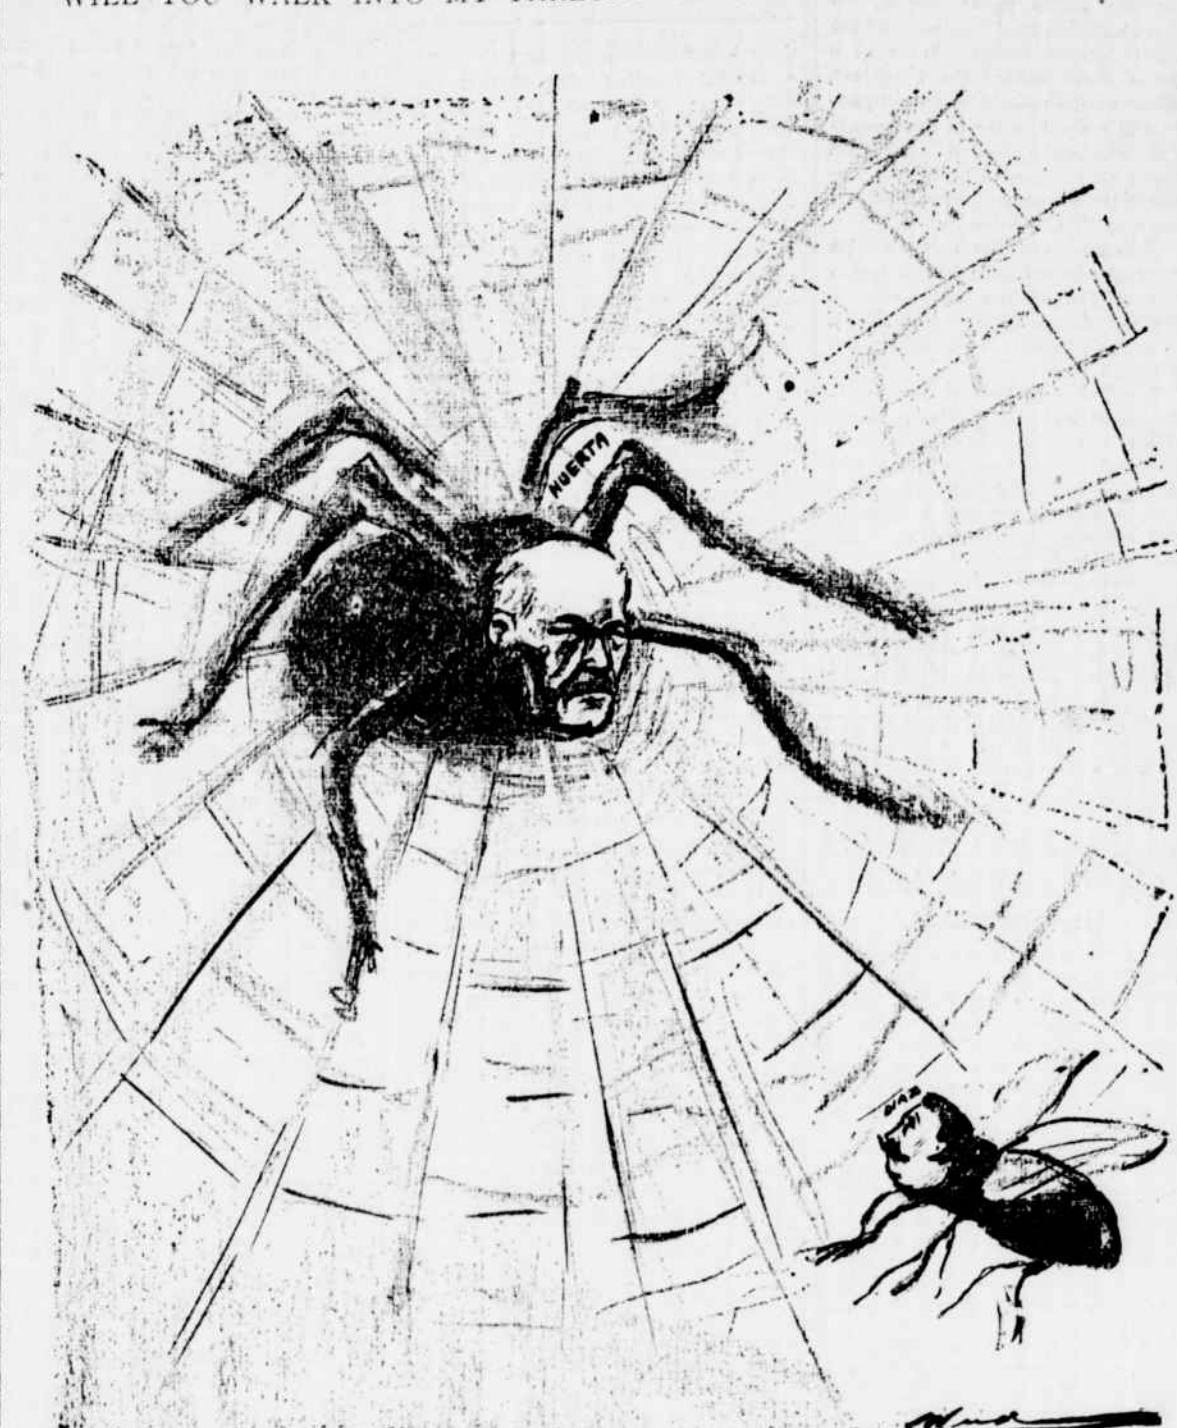

"McCall," he continued, "knows less

"WILL YOU WALK INTO MY PARLOR?" SAID THE SPIDER TO THE FLY.

SPREADING RAILS CAUSE
CRASH ON NEW HAVEN

One Killed and Seven Injured in Wreck Near Westerly, Rhode Island.

Westerly, R. I., Oct. 25.—The Gilt Edge Express of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, bound for Boston from New York, jumped the track at White Dog curve, one mile east of here, late to-night and plunged over an embankment, injuring fifteen persons.

The injured included H. A. Cluett, of Cluett, Peabody & Co., of the King Edward Hotel, New York, whose right hand was hurt, and Mrs. R. Horwitz, of No. 1971 Mapee avenue, The Bronx, who was hurt about the chest and her knee badly cut.

Bishop Perry of the Rhode Island Diocese was returning from the Episcopal Church convention in New York to his home in Providence. He was not hurt, and helped take care of the wounded.

The train left the Grand Central Terminal at 5:33 p. m., making its first stop at New London. There were six cars in the train, all of wood. Five of these cars went down a ten-foot embankment and turned on their sides. The buffet car next to the engine left the track, but was not overturned. The engine remained on the rails.

Spreading rails, it is reported, were responsible for the accident. The train was making about twenty-five miles an hour, and had passed Chapman's Pond, when everything save the engine and tender leaped from the rails and snapped the cars like a whip across the eastbound and westbound tracks and down the embankment, some of the cars overturning.

Appeals for help were immediately dispatched to New London, Providence and this place. At Providence a special train, carrying thirteen physicians, six of them from the Rhode Island Hospital, was made up immediately, and hurried to the scene. From Westerly other physicians and nurses sped to the point in automobiles.

The train crew was promptly at work, and, with the assistance of passengers who had not been hurt, removed the injured persons from the cars. The most seriously injured was Mrs. Louis Bennett, of Winthrop Beach, Boston. She had just left a New York hospital, where an operation had been performed. Her collarbone was fractured, her foot sprained and she was internally injured. Mrs. Bennett was placed on the relief train and taken to the Memorial Hospital, in New London. The other persons were taken to New London and Providence.

DENY LEISHMAN WEDDING

Ex-Minister Says His Daughter Has Not Been Married.

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 25.—John G. A. Leishman, formerly American Ambassador to Germany, said to-night that the report that the marriage of his daughter, Miss Nancy Leishman, to the Duke of Croy, had taken place yesterday at Geneva, was untrue.

Both religious and civil ceremonies, Mr. Leishman added, will take place here on Tuesday next.

DIAZ DEFIES HUERTA;
STAYS AT VERA CRUZ

Refuses the Dictator's Special "Request" to Go to the Mexican Capital.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 25.—General Felix Diaz received to-day a request from the Mexican government to proceed to the federal capital. The request was signed by President Huerta.

Colonel Manuel Vidaurrazaga, secretary to the Minister of War, General Aureliano Blanquet, arrived here on a special train with the invitation, which was practically an order for General Diaz to accompany him to Mexico City.

Unless General Diaz alters his intentions, he will not return to the federal capital.

General Huerta's letter urged Diaz to go to the capital immediately "for his own prestige as well as for that of the government." It was written in affectionate terms, and bore no resemblance to an official command.

Ramon Fride, a prominent state politician and member of the Legislature, who was removed from the steamship Morro Castle before her departure, disappeared to-day from the house in which the police had consented that he should be detained instead of being kept in jail. His escape apparently immediately instituted a search for him.

[By Cable to The Tribune.]

Mexico City, Oct. 25.—Minister Moseno, when questioned to-night about reports that Felix Diaz had solicited American protection at Vera Cruz, said:

"Officially I know nothing about all this, but a friend of mine who has just arrived from Vera Cruz tells me that General Felix Diaz sought protection from Mr. Lind, and that through Mr. Lind he obtained asylum in the American Consulate, fearful of I know not what. General Diaz enjoys every guarantee, and I don't know why he should appeal to Mr. Lind."

General Huerta offered Diaz a special train to bring him to the capital so that he might attend the conference of Presidential candidates, but Diaz declined.

THREATEN E. H. GARY'S LIFE

Messages Cause Steel Man to Employ Guards in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Telephone calls and messages sent to-day to the hotel apartments of Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, threatening his life, caused him, it is reported, to call in the assistance of private detectives and to isolate his rooms from outside communication.

"I have taken the ordinary precautions," Mr. Gary is quoted as having said to one of the steel company presidents. "This seems to be only the vapors of an indignant man."

Mr. Gary denied having received any written communications, according to report, but the telephone bell in the Gary apartments is said to have rung almost constantly until Mr. Gary ordered it cut off.

RUSSIAN PREMIER ILL.

Rome, Oct. 25.—Premier Alexander Nicolaievich Kokovtsov of Russia is making only slow progress in his recovery from his recent attack of erysipelas. The physicians in attendance stated to-day that he would probably be confined to bed for five weeks.

BODY WASTED BY POISON,
HIS WILL Baffles DEATH

Isaac Levy, Bichloride Victim, Clings to Life with Power That Amazes.

Fighting a grim battle against what physicians as certain death, Isaac Levy, the clothing merchant of Bensonhurst, who swallowed bichloride of mercury tablets by mistake last Sunday night, was still alive at midnight last night. More than that, the man whose vital organs have been eaten away by the action of the powerful poison was "resting easily, with pulse and temperature normal and appetite good," according to the diagnosis of Dr. Jacob Sarnoff, the Levy family physician.

Although Dr. Sarnoff would not say last night that he had any hopes of Levy "pulling through" and getting well again, members of the family, at their home in Bay 22d street, Bensonhurst, were evidently more hopeful about their father's condition than they have been at any time since he swallowed the poison. It is probable, however, that this feeling has been brought about by the indomitable will and courageous example of the sick man himself. All along he has insisted he is not going to die. Something of his hope and confidence seems to have infected his family.

With the exception of a period of about two hours at the noon hour Levy was conscious all day and last night. The only thing that seemed to affect him was a pain in his abdomen. Acting under the doctor's orders, the ill man drank copiously of water throughout the day. This, in connection with the repeated sweating between hot blankets, is calculated to drive the poison out of the system.

Dr. Sarnoff said yesterday that practically all the poison had been thus sweated out and his patient is now only suffering from the natural effects of the first action of the mercury. Levy's appetite continues unimpaired and he is allowed quantities of barley water, strengthening broths and orangeade.

Repeatedly he has said he does not wish to be treated like a hopeless invalid. All the little attentions, little tenderesses, that wife and children naturally lavish upon a husband and father who is dying are resented by Levy, who insists that everybody in the sickroom wear a cheerful expression.

When a reporter from The Tribune called at the Levy home, No. 8835 Bay 22d street, Bensonhurst, last night all but two of the children were at supper. An air of hope and cheerfulness pervaded the dining room, the children apparently believing, with their father, in his ultimate recovery.

LION STALKS W. E. COREY

Steel Man Followed for Miles in Madison Mountain Wilds.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Butte, Mont., Oct. 25.—William E. Corey, of New York City, who, with ten other wealthy sportsmen, has been hunting for a month in the wilds of Madison Mountains, had a narrow escape recently from a mountain lion. He followed one lion for a day, tracking it through the snow. When dusk came he turned to retrace his steps, to catch a glimpse of a large lion making into the brush. The best he stalked him for several miles.

WILSON ASSAILS
SWAY OF BLOOD
AS HUERTA PLOTS

Huerta Paves the Way to Retain His Power by Binding the Candidates to His Own Support.

"Nowhere Can Any Government Endure which is Stained by Blood," the President Declares.

GETS PLEDGES FROM ALL

GOVERNED MUST CONSENT

General Felix Diaz Defies Dictator's "Request" to Go to the Capital, and Remains in Retirement at Vera Cruz.

[By Cable to The Tribune.]

Mexico City, Oct. 25.—The eve of the elections finds the inhabitants of this city guessing, shrugging their shoulders and declaring that never was the political situation in Mexico a greater enigma than at present.

As a final preliminary to the holding of the elections all the candidates present in the capital met this afternoon at the National Palace, at the call of President Huerta, to discuss questions relating to their future conduct. As a result of the deliberations General Huerta announced his intention to make a formal proclamation embodying the agreement reached.

The agreement in general terms was that the candidates would abide by the result of to-morrow's voting. Should any candidate be shown to have polled enough votes to constitute his election the others are to assist him in pacifying the country and placing it on a sound financial and industrial basis.

Promise to Aid Huerta.

On the other hand, should there not be enough votes cast to fulfill the requirements of the law, and the elections for that reason be declared of no effect, all those concerned are to aid General Huerta in every way possible to accomplish the same ends, pending the calling and holding of new elections at a future date.

The conference was attended by Federico Gamboa, Presidential candidate of the Catholic party; David de la Fuente, the Liberal Republican candidate; Manuel Calero, candidate of the Liberal party; Jose Maria Reguena, Vice-Presidential candidate on the ticket with General Felix Diaz; General Eugenio Rascon, Dr. Gregorio Mendizabal and Jesus Flores Magon, the other Vice-Presidential candidates. The conference is said to have been entirely harmonious, all of the candidates pledging themselves to the agreement.

All preparations have been completed for the elections of President, Vice-President, Deputies and Senators. The registration lists have been distributed to the committees who will preside over the polling places. The police, who have been assigned to the various districts, have been instructed to observe a strictly neutral attitude. In addition, about four thousand troops in barracks will be ready to suppress any attempt at disorder.

Neither the government officials nor the candidates look for any trouble. All the candidates have publicly exhorted their followers to do their duty at the polls, but to preserve orderly conduct.

The law provides that one-third the total number of eligible voters must exercise the right of suffrage in order to make the election valid. Failing this, Congress is expected to declare the election void; whereupon General Huerta will continue President ad interim until conditions permit of new elections.

Rich and Poor Indifferent.

Only the middle class is showing any special interest in the elections, for the very rich and very poor are indifferent to politics and take things as they come, unless their particular class interests are affected.

Persons claiming to be well informed scout the idea that President Huerta is supporting David de la Fuente, formerly Minister of Communications in his Cabinet, and these say that, so far as Huerta from esteeming or trusting De la Fuente, that the latter has been a virtual prisoner with the city as his prison since he left the Cabinet.

De la Fuente is known as a systematic, incurable revolutionist. He joined Madero's revolution against Porfirio Diaz, and when that revolution triumphed he was appointed chief of police in this city. He did not hold the post long, and when Madero became President De la Fuente rose in arms against him.

Felix Diaz was expected to come to this city this morning, and a large number of police and military were at the station, ostensibly to preserve order, but he did not arrive. Whether the government really holds the threads of a new Felicista plot is a matter about which opinions differ.

Manuel Madero, a cousin of the late President Francisco Madero, was arrested to-day at Saltillo on account of his alleged connection with a recently discovered plot in that city against the federal government.

Daniel and Evaristo Madero, also relatives of the late President, who had been previously arrested, are reported to have reached Tampico, whence they will be sent by boat to Vera Cruz, to be confined in the old prison of San Juan de Ulua pending their trial on charges of sedition.

At Swarthmore College the Chief Executive Gives a Hint of What He Will Say in Defining His Mexican Policy.

Swarthmore, Penn., Oct. 25.—President Wilson, in a speech here to-day, proclaimed the doctrine that the whole Western hemisphere should be devoted to one sacred purpose—"that nowhere can any government endure which is stained by blood or supported by anything but the consent of the governed."

It was while extolling the spirit with which William Penn sought to establish "a free commonwealth" in America that the President incidentally revealed his thoughts on present day problems. His utterances, it is known, reflect the ideas which the Washington administration is preparing to announce to the nations of the world in a formal note on the policy of the United States toward Mexico.

The President spoke in a big tent not far from the spot where Penn landed, the exercises being commemorative also of Founders' Day at Swarthmore College, and he was enthusiastically cheered.

"I would not be interested," said the President, "in celebrating the memory of William Penn if his conquest had been merely a material one. Sometimes we have been laughed at, by foreigners in particular, for boasting of the size of the American continent, the size of our own domain as a nation, for they have, naturally, suggested that we did not make it. But I claim that every race and every man is as big as the thing that he takes possession of, and that the size of America is in some sense a standard of the size and capacity of the American people."

"Consent of the Governed."

"But the extent of the American conquest is not what gives America distinction in the annals of the world. It is the professed purpose of the conquest, which was to see to it that every foot of that land should be the home of free, self-governed people who should have no government whatever which did not rest upon the consent of the governed. I would like to believe that all this hemisphere is devoted to the same sacred purpose, and that nowhere can any government endure which is stained by blood or supported by anything but the consent of the governed."

"And the spirit of Penn will not be stayed. You cannot set limits to such knightly adventures. After their own day is gone their spirits stalk the world, carrying inspiration everywhere that they go and reminding men of the lineage, the fine lineage, of those who have sought justice and the right."

"It is no small matter, therefore, for a college to have as its patron saint a man who went out upon such a conquest; and what I would like to ask you young people to-day is, How many of you have devoted yourselves to the like adventure? How many of you will volunteer to carry those spiritual messages of liberty to the world? How many of you will forego anything except your allegiance to that which is just and that which is right?"

"We die but once, and we die without distinction if we are not willing to die the death of sacrifice. Do you covet honor? You will never get it by serving yourself. Do you covet distinction? You will get it only as the servant of mankind. Do not forget, then, as you walk these classic places, why you are here. You are not here merely to prepare to make a living. You are here in order to enable the world to live more amply, with greater vision, with a finer spirit of hope and achievement. You are here to enrich the world, and you impoverish yourself if you forget the errand. But what a man ought never to forget is that a college is a nursery of principle and of honor."

Ideals of College and State.

"So it seems to me that there is no great difference between the ideals of the college and the ideals of the state. Can you not translate the one into the other? Men have not had to come to college, let me remind you, to quaff the fountains of this inspiration. You are merely more privileged than they. Men out of every walk of life, men without advantages of any kind, have seen the vision, and you, with it written large upon every page of your study, are the more blind if you do not see it when it is pointed out. You could not be forgiven for overlooking it. They might have been. But they did not await instruction. They simply drew the breath of life into their lungs, felt the aspirations that must come to every human soul, looked out upon their brothers and felt their pulses beat as their fellows' beat, and then sought by counsel and action to move forward to common ends that would be crowned
